THE AUTOPSY ON GUITEAU.

An Unpleasant Scandal Arisen-Drs. Sowers and Hartigan Charge Dr. Lamb with Something Like Sharp Practice Upon

WASHINGTON, July 5 .- It seems that there is now to be a scandal in connection with the autopsy of Guiteau. Dr. Lamb, according to the reports of his two associ-ates, Drs. Sowers and Hartigan, has stolen a march upon them, taken possession of all a march upon them, taken possession of an the notes made during the autopsy, made a report upon the case, and sent it to a medi-cal journal for publication. He refuses to give Drs. Sowers and Hartigan access to the notes, or to consider them in any authoritative sense associated in the autopsy. He holds that they were merely selected as custodians of the brain of Guiteau. Drs. Sowers and Hartigan will make what they term a majority report.

Dr. Sowers was called upon by a correspondent this evening and made the following statement of the case, Dr. Hartigan being present and acquiescing in it:

"Dr. Hartigan and myself were in no way connected with this case, except by accident. In other words, we did not seek to be connected with it. The first I knew that I was to be in any way connected with the case, or even that I would be expected at the jail, was upon the receipt of the following telegram, written at the jail at 1 o'clock the night previous to the execution, and sent to my office, where it was not re-ceived until 9:30 the next morning: " Dr. Z. REPLY : "'Your letter of this date is received. The unsigned agreement made between Colonel Corkhill and Dr. Hicks was accepted by me out of courtesy to Colonel Corkhill. I interpreted it then as I do now, and as it has been by others, to mean no more than to provide for the custody of the brain. I was informed by Dr. Hicks that if this agreement, made without my know-ledge, after I had been selected by both him and Dr. Young, and handed to me at the time of examination, should hamper me in any way, he would not consider it binding. The provisions of the agreement, as I understand, have so far been fulfilled, and nothing remains but to notify Colonel Corkhill and Dr. Hicks when the migrographical propagation. when the microscopical preparations are ready. There certainly can be no doubt in your minds as to my understanding of this question, since I have several times assured you that I did not regard you as officially connected with the autopsy, or report, ex-cept so far as the charge of the brain was conserned. I have consuited medical men of this city and of Philadelphia, and of the of this city and of Philadelphia, and of the army, and am assured that my position is correct.
